

Dads and Grads Gift Guide

June 4th, 2009 | email this | diqq it

Posted by Chatterblog

Leave your comment

Published in Gifts, Shopping

We Take the Cake & Layer Cake Wines – Renowned winemaker, Jayson

Woodbridge's grandfather always used to say, "Never pass up a good layer cake." You first saw us mention We Take the Cake back in our Mother's Day guide where we raved about their cupcakes.

This time around, we're here to talk about their partnership with Layer Cake Wines for the pair made in heaven...award winning chocolate layer cake and Layer Cake's international wines! What a great way to let that recent grad or favorite dad celebrate their special day...let them have their cake and drink it too 😊 Through the end of June, We Take the Cake is offering a 15% on their chocolate layer cakes.

Artimus Art – Your little one has been busy in school making plenty of beautiful artwork for dad.

Why not find a way to organize, feature and preserved those works of art for a lifetime. Artimus allows you to publish the artwork into bound books and allows you to share the artwork online (a great way to share their works of art with the grandparents, aunts and uncles). Artimus can take any two dimensional artwork, even those oversized pieces and publish them into a bound book. As the school year is coming to a close, this would be a perfect time to compile all the artwork from throughout the year, get it all published to a book and print a copy just for dad.

BBQ Vivabox – Okay, we know we're generalizing here, but for the most part, what dad doesn't like to grill out? We have the perfect gift...the BBQ Vivabox. The BBQ Vivabox includes samples of three yummy rubs (Kansas City Classic, Cajun Street, Chicago Steak & Chop), and a gift card that the recipient then chooses to cash in the rest of their gift with either specific Omaha Steaks packages or Urban Accents gift sets. It's a perfect gift for dad. It's more personal than just a giftcard and it lets get what he wants. For the grad, they also have wine, gourmet to your door, spa massage, spa beauty, tea, coffee or fragrance boxes available - anything and everything you could imagine. For the Dad & Grad holiday season, they're offering 25% off the BBQ and Wine boxes.

