

HOME SHOP ABOUT DEALS RSS

DOLLAR MENU

PLAY CART ME AWAY™

LOOK BOOK

SEE OUR UK BLOG

SEARCH

obama_tie

← Halloween Costumes that Really Scare Me

Crocs for only \$17?? →

beauty

books

electronics

family

fashion & apparel

food & drink

gifts

health & fitness

home & garden

lifestyle & gossip

Throwing An Election Party? You've gotta have these...

October 23rd, 2008 · 1 Comment

Love these ideas, but thought I'd thrown another one out there too... there's a creative new gift idea called vivabox, which gives new reason to celebrate surviving two years of political ads, debates and all of the accompanying political pundits! Just like this election, the vivabox is a gift built around choice. But with vivabox, your choice always wins!

Here's how it works: the recipient opens his or her vivabox for an immediate 'taste' of an experience, then selects a second gift by redeeming the enclosed gift card for a gift experience of their choosing.

And the choosing isn't all for the recipient. Like candidates, there are several vivaboxes for gift givers to choose from, including a Tea Time box, a Gourmet to Your Door box, and two Spa vivaboxes.

So, while elections can be draining and the ads tough to endure, rewarding yourself for surviving can be easy when you give the gift of choice!

Win or lose, we go shopping
after the election

- Imelda Marcos, former
Philippine First Lady

PICK OF THE WEEK

Ugg Black Camille
Womens Shoes

